Franklin Field Weight Training Facility

Kansas City, MO - Penn alums Stacey Jones and David Murphy, (both M.Arch '88) are partners with architectural firm Crawford Architects with offices in Sydney, Australia and Kansas City, Missouri. Crawford has been appointed architects for the Franklin Field Weight Training Facility, a 26,000sf state-of-the-art facility to be integrated with the colonnaded and arched, northern façade of historic Franklin Field, the University's venerable and revered football stadium. The facility will be a combination of renovated and new construction to accommodate weight training and cardio-fitness equipment for the School's intercollegiate athletes and recreational fitness users.
